NEW POWERS TO REMOVE TRAVELLERS

By Lewis Berrill

waltham@yellowad.co.uk

BARKING and Dagenham Council has removed multiple illegal travellers sites in recent weeks after being granted new powers to tackle the issue.

An illegal traveller site was removed from Dagenham's Central Park on March 29.

Three caravans and four vehicles, including a small tipper lorry, were issued with an enforcement notice to vacate the site within two hours or risk being arrested.

Despite the individuals being aggressive and threatening towards police and council officers, the car park was vacated within an hour, said a council spokesman.

The council was issued new powers to tackle illegal encampments at the High Court in October last year.

Jonathon Toy, operational director for enforcement services at the council, said: "The council and police will continue to use the powers, granted through the injunction, to its maximum effect to ensure Barking and Dagenham is protected."

The injunction is thought to be the first of its kind in England and Wales and bans unlawful campsites from being set up at a number of designated sites across the borough, including parks, open spaces, schools, and industrial sites. It also prohibits fly-tipping.

Any breach of the order is a contempt of court, punishable by a term of imprisonment.

On March 28, the council moved an illegal site from Millennium Centre car park in Dagenham.

A total of 12 caravans left the car park after they were given two hours to leave the site by Barking and Dagenham's Street Enforcement Team.

Councillor Laila Butt, cabinet member for enforcement and community safety, said: "Our main priority is making sure that we protect residents and their businesses.

"The injunction gives us the opportunity to make the borough a safer, cleaner place.

"We are not prepared for illegal encampments to be set up in this borough, and we will act quickly to ensure they are moved on, as we have today.

"The council will continue to work alongside the authorities to ensure sites are protected in the borough and we will clamp down on any unlawful behaviour that takes place on these sites."

Join cycle ride for hospitals' charity

A BEREAVED dad who has raised thousands for the King George and Queen's Hospitals Charity is calling for cyclists to join a fresh fundraising event.

Keen cyclist Stuart Wilks, 42, is organising Pedal4Patients, a fundraising bike ride between Brentwood and Queen's Hospital in Romford, on Sunday, April 29.

The first of what he hopes will become an annual event.

There are two different routes – 45 or 69 miles – allowing more serious cyclists or newcomers to choose the challenge to suit them.

Stuart, of Junction Road, Brentwood, has already raised £7,000 for the charity in thanks for the support he and wife Sarah, 42, received when their daughter Charlotte was stillborn at Queen's Hospital in August 2016.

He said: "We were looked after phenomenally well and everyone was so supportive.

"When something like that happens, the NHS really goes into overdrive and it makes you realise how important it is.

GOOD CAUSE: Stuart Wilks is behind Pedal4Patients on April 29

"After we were looked after so well on the bereavement suite, we thought all the staff were so amazing and they could do with some extra support, so we decided to raise some money."

They quickly raised £3,500 thanks to the support of family and friends and Stuart later raised an additional £3,500 after he took part in the Fred Whitton Challenge, a 112-mile ride through the Lake District, last May.

The family raised the money to refurbish the Snowdrop Suite at Queen's Hospital, which is run by Barking, Havering and Redbridge University Hospitals NHS Trust.

The suite is for parents who have lost babies at the hospital. Stuart and Sarah were keen to raise as much as they could to help other parents facing a similar situation to their own.

Now Stuart, who runs his own marketing and business development consultancy, is encouraging more people to raise money for the hospital department of their choice by taking part in Pedal4Patients.

He said: "We already have lots of different people signed up so I'm really looking forward to it.

"We'd really love more people to join us, and it's not too late to sign up now."

"The longer route will be more intense while the shorter one is fairly flat.

"We'll have marshals throughout to look after you, it'll be well signposted and we have feed stations so you can refuel, and even better, they're at pubs along the way. Cycling is a great way to get fit that's not too high impact and these sort of events are really good to meet people and make it more social. It's for a brilliant cause, so sign up and join us."

To find out more and sign up go to www.pedal4patients.org.uk.

Youth club to help young express their talents

A NEW youth club for young people with disabilities is set to open in Barking on April 19.

The Thames View centre is supported by Dagenham's Ab Phab Youth Club, working in partnership with the Essex Boys and Girls Club.

The club will be open for young people, aged 10 to 25, with positive activities on offer including dodgeball, pool, dance, drama and music – with an emphasis upon catering for young people with disabilities.

It will also run residential trips and give youngsters the opportunity to earn qualifications such as the Duke of Edinburgh's Award.

It is at the Sue Bramley Children's Centre in Basteable Avenue and opens from 6.30 to 8.30pm on Thursdays and will cost £1 a session.

Barking and Dagenham Council has pledged to support the club by linking with schools and disability groups in the borough.

Anne Bristow, council deputy chief executive and strategic director for service development and integration, said the club will give youngsters a chance to enjoy activities and provide anyone with a disability the opportunity to express their talents and gain qualifications.

Funding was provided by the Youth Investment Fund, a Big Lottery Fund for voluntary, community and social enterprise youth organisations delivering hyper-local services.

DRAWING INSPIRATION: Schoolchildren at Barking Riverside

SCHOOLCHILDREN took part in a creative arts project to celebrate the wildlife and ecology at the Barking Riverside development.

Pupils from Thames View Junior School in Barking produced artwork inspired by the ecology of the site for the special arts workshop led by artist Laura Iosifescu.

They were taken to Barking Riverside's viewing platform and given a tour, before painting the scenery – the Thames, riverbank and nesting wildlife – onto stones which will be incorporated into the 443-acre development.

Varsha Patel, marketing, PR and events manager for Barking Riverside London, said: "Working with Thames View Junior School has given us a great opportunity to teach the children about the unique environment right on their doorstep."

Laura, founder of Laura I. Gallery, Barking, said: "It's so important to get children involved with the arts at an early age, helping to foster a collaborative and creative community in Barking. I'm delighted to be working with Barking Riverside – the site has such an interesting landscape, and it was fantastic to see the children being inspired by their surroundings and creating work that reflects the site's diverse ecology."

Barking Riverside will offer 10,800 new homes, half of which will be "affordable", 65,000 square metres of commercial, retail and community space as well as up to seven schools, public squares and open spaces.

A new TfL Overground station opens in 2021, with the wider scheme set for completion by 2034.
